Association is proud to present:

Midweek English Language Teaching Sessions

Telling Tales:
The Teacher as Storyteller
Martyn Ford

This practical workshop offers the opportunity to develop skills and confidence in telling stories in class, capturing and holding the attention of students and motivating them to learn through the power of narrative. We shall work with a variety of tales, traditional and modern, which can all, potentially, be learnt by heart and retold without textual support. The course will also touch on learning tasks for students to do before and after listening to stories. Both stories and tasks will reflect a range of ages and levels. So come and swap tales, learn how to be a better storyteller and how to keep your students spellbound!

Book a place as part of a double session with Conceptualising Language: Learner-Generated Visuals.
